In June, 24 teenage boys and girls from Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia spent six days at Graves Mountain Lodge, experiencing mountain streams, fishing and learning about stream waters.

Rappahannock Friends and Lovers of Our Watersheds (RappFLOW) partners with the Trout Unlimited, sponsor of this camp, to offer a scholarship to a resident of Rappahannock County.

Carolyn Thornton hands RappFLOW check to Paul Kearney of Trout Unlimited in the Thornton River.

Trout camp provides an exciting six-day, five-night residential experience conducted by a staff skilled in leading youth groups and activities, and a faculty of outstanding instructors of conservation, and effective and responsible fishing; and

Campers learn hands-on how to protect, reconnect, restore, and sustain coldwater fisheries and their watersheds.

For more information about the camp, please see tucamp.org and information on Rappflow see www.rappflow.org.
